COREY'S BIO

To date, Corey has a robust catalog of co-written songs and commercial releases on Sony Music Canada, EMI Records, Universal, Armada Music, and more. He is an official Grammy voter, a verified artist on Shazam, and an official Spotify artist with thousands of monthly listeners.

With a passion for marketing and advertising, Corey added academia to his list of accomplishments in 2012, earning his Bachelor's Degree in Media Arts from New Jersey City University. While in school, he honed his skills in copywriting for advertising, video production, and editing – all skills he would later call upon to create engaging content on social media.

As one of today's most active micro social media influencers, Corey has worked with top brands, including Conair, Rayban, Lumee Smartphone Case, and food giant General Mills, who featured Corey in a digital media campaign for "Honey Nut Cheerios." Recent television acting appearances include, In Pursuit with John Walsh (ID Channel), Joe Kinda -Homicide Hunter (ID Channel), and Mysteries at The Museum (The Travel Channel).

As an outspoken pop culture commentator, Corey currently hosts multiple podcasts, including Core Issues, Motivational Mondays, and Naughty But Nice With Rob with veteran celebrity gossip guru Rob Shuter.

Corey Andrew's career as a media personality began on the stages of New York City's most famous comedy clubs: Boston Comedy Club, Gotham, Catch a Rising Star, and Caroline's on Broadway. In these notable venues, Corey perfected his gift of comedic timing and storytelling, keeping crowds laughing throughout his high-energy standup routines.

As an all-around performer, Corey is also an accomplished vocalist and songwriter. Using his singing voice often in his comedy routines, it wasn't long before he caught the attention of talent agents. This led to being signed to his first talent agent at the acclaimed Abrahams Artists, who encouraged him to audition for Broadway musicals, where he garnered multiple callbacks for top shows such as Rent and AIDA. Music producers and record labels began to discover Corey and offered him collaborative recording opportunities in the international EDM/House music genre.
